Description

Under Armor men's shoes. Trail running shoes are in black with green elements and will please every man who prefers a trendy sporty look. Trail running sneakers have a mesh upper that guarantees optimal air circulation. Reinforced toe, heel and the most stressed parts increase resistance and protect the foot. The brand's trail running shoes for men have a midsole made of Charged Cushioning® foam, which provides excellent cushioning and helps achieve a high level of cushioning.

Trail running shoes can be perfectly combined with men's sports pants, shorts and sweatshirts. Men's trail sneakers have a shaped insole that ensures comfort when running on unpaved forest paths. Men's trail boots have a rubber sole with a rugged pattern for the best traction. Running sneakers have a deep pattern in the sole, which will come in handy in difficult terrain.

Charged Bandit sneakers are the best companions for the terrain, for running in the forest, on unpaved terrain, for outdoor activities and active leisure time.
