Adidas women's shoes. Hiking boots for ladies have a timeless design and excel in functionality. The advantage is the Gore-tex membrane, thanks to which hiking shoes are also suitable for poor and wet conditions. Your feet will always remain dry and comfortable. Trekking shoes have a durable and abrasion-resistant upper, which will still provide the necessary breathability.

Adidas Terrex women's have a light construction, which you will appreciate after a whole day of hiking trails. You can adjust the classic lacing to your liking. Waterproof boots for the mountains have a padded collar and tongue, so they are comfortable to walk in. The black hiking boots feature an EVA midsole to provide cushioning. The Continental rubber sole ensures grip on any terrain. These low hiking boots can tackle any terrain from rocky scree and wet roots to unpaved, dusty trails. Women's outdoor footwear is perfect for discovering the beauty of nature. It was also made from recycled materials.
