Description

Voxx hiking socks. Terry socks with padded zones against blisters and pressure sores. Winter socks with a soft, comfortable non-stifling hem provide high breathability and comfort during wear. Shaped socks are anatomically adapted for the left and right foot. Warm socks for hiking have antibacterial protection with silver ions, which is ensured by the silproX material.

Hiking socks for maximum thermal comfort thanks to Merino wool, which perfectly wicks away moisture, dries quickly, lets the skin breathe, is comfortable even when worn all day, is hypoallergenic and antibacterial. Voxx Etrex socks in a classic height in a bold color are a suitable choice for winter hiking, mountain hiking, trekking, walking or other leisure activities in the winter season. Socks belong to temperature class C: from -20°C to +5°C.
