Description

Tecnica men's shoes. Magna trail shoes are designed for hiking, running and climbing in all types of technical mountain terrain. Trail shoes fall into the All-mountain category. These trail shoes for nature are a true amphibian. They provide a high level of grip on various types of terrain and protection of the feet against hard surfaces, rocks or sharp stones. At the same time, these running shoes for the forest are extremely comfortable and will give you a natural feeling when running. Quick acceleration is guaranteed by the rocker of the midsole and the unique rounded shape of the toe.

Men's all-mountain boots adapt perfectly to the feet, have classic lacing and adhere well to the foot. The larger cut hem guarantees comfort and freedom of movement of the foot even during the most dynamic movements on rocks or in rugged terrain. The unique pattern of the multi-layer sole is inspired by the design of MTB enduro tires made with Vibram Litebase technology and Megagrip compound rubber, which offers optimal grip on all surfaces, both dry and wet, both downhill and uphill. The extremely wide shape of the heel will help you in this, which guarantees stability. Two rubber stabilizing ribs on each side ensure balance during hard braking even on rubble, gravel and loose stones. These trail shoes can be molded to fit the runner in the heel and arch area. The inner insole of the shoe is pre-shaped.

The advantage of Tecnica Magma shoes is the Gore-Tex membrane, which is a guarantee of comfort even in damp or wet environments. The hiking boots are nevertheless sufficiently breathable.
