Description

Everett women's shoes. Hiking boots will attract attention not only with elaborate outdoor design, but also with excellent functionality. Thanks to the TexDryve membrane, trekking shoes provide excellent water resistance and dryness in the shoe. Combine hiking pants, a trekking t-shirt and a sweatshirt with forest boots and set off on an adventure.

The front part of the outdoor shoes is reinforced with a durable and strong material for a higher degree of toe protection. The upper part of the mountain shoes is made of synthetic material and mesh, which ensures excellent air circulation. FixBase technology strengthens the heel and ankle and supports your every step. The padded interior and massively padded collar of outdoor shoes provide comfort when wearing. The Footarch Support technology helps the correct arch and thus the foot arch. The loop on the back of the mountain boots is used for easier putting on and taking off. The articulated sole of outdoor shoes for ladies has excellent traction in all directions. Light green shoes with yellow elements are the perfect choice for camping, outdoor trips, trekking expeditions and tourist expeditions.
