Description

Men's leggings brand 4F. Men's running leggings are made of quick-drying material. Thanks to the 4FDry technology, which wicks away moisture from the body to the outside, you will feel comfortable even during more intense running or training. The elastic material adapts to you and does not hinder movement. There is an internal drawstring in the waist, so you can adjust them according to your needs.

The black running leggings have a tight fit and adapt well to the curves of your body. In the lower part, training leggings for men have perforations that support air circulation during movement. Leggings are suitable for running, training and other sports activities.
