Description

Under Armor men's shoes. Trail shoes for men are in black with orange elements and will please every man who prefers a trendy sporty look. Running sneakers have a mesh upper that reliably ensures optimal air circulation. Reinforced toe, heel and the most stressed parts increase the resistance and protection of the foot. The branded sneakers have a midsole made of Charged Cushioning® foam, which absorbs extremely well and helps to achieve a high level of cushioning.

Running sneakers can be perfectly combined with men's sports pants, shorts and sweatshirts. Trail sneakers have a shaped insole that ensures comfort when running. The sports boots have a rubber sole with a rugged pattern for the best traction. The running shoes have a deep pattern in the sole, which will come in handy in difficult terrain.

Charged Bandit sneakers are perfect companions for off-roading, for running in the forest, on unpaved terrain, for outdoor activities and active leisure time.
