Description

Under Armor women's shoes. If running is your lifestyle, then the Hovr Infinite 4 running shoes are just right for you. Great functional properties will convince every female runner. The upper part of the running shoes is made of high-quality mesh that supports air circulation. Women's sneakers have reinforced parts around the toe and heel for sufficient foot support. Padded collar and soft insole with heel reinforcement guarantee a high level of comfort. Running shoes have a very light construction, which is an advantage for many female runners.

Women's running sneakers use HVOR technology, where shock absorption and stable movement occur thanks to the midsole. You will thus achieve a high return on energy. The rubber sole protects the shoe from early wear. Black sneakers in an original design are perfect companions for running and various sports activities.

Product details:
