Description

Men's jacket brand 4F. In addition to the modern design, the ski jacket also has excellent functional properties that every skier or winter lover will appreciate. The jacket stands out with a DERMIZAX® membrane with a water column of up to 20,000 mm. It is intended for professionals who are looking for maximum protection in any weather, especially during winter activities. These are mainly activities that require very good insulation from cold, wind and snow. The branded jacket is made of highly functional material from the Japanese company Toray®. The back of the 4F jacket is lined with black silver mesh, which, together with the polyester filling, ensures sufficient thermal insulation, while maintaining an optimal ratio of warmth and weight.

The ski windbreaker has a removable and adjustable hood, which will also provide protection in adverse conditions. It closes with a YKK zip with chin protection, which is covered with an internal windproof placket that protects against excessive heat loss. The winter jacket has taped seams in the most critical places. The advantage of the blue men's jacket is the adjustable Velcro cuffs, which can be customized by everyone. The inner cuffs with thumb holes in turn provide excellent insulation against the cold. A snow belt with snaps is a matter of course. The men's windbreaker also stands out because it has a TeflonShield+ coating, which guarantees greater resistance to dirt. You can also regulate your thermoregulation using the zippered ventilation holes in the armpits. The winter jacket has one inner pocket and four outer pockets. An interesting addition are the silicone projections on the shoulders, which make it easier to carry the skis.
