Description

Trezeta women's shoes. Trekking shoes for ladies will be reliable companions on hiking expeditions. Outdoor shoes ensure stability and provide great support. Thanks to their special construction, these trekking shoes guarantee excellent foot protection. They have a soft waterproof suede upper, while the breathable mesh lining allows for optimal climate comfort inside the shoe.

Boots for the forest have a Water Stopper membrane, which prevents the penetration of external elements into the shoe. This way the foot will always be dry. Dual-density EVA midsole absorbs shock and minimizes vibrations. Mountain shoes are extremely stable, thanks to the Vibram® Multiland sole, which ensures maximum traction. The sole has a large contact zone in the front, which improves grip on the ground, and multi-traction blocks ensure excellent grip on all types of terrain. A great choice for more demanding routes, for walks, for camping or camping.
