Description

Merrell women's shoes. Women's trail shoes stand out not only for their colorful design, but also for their functionality. Trail shoes have been designed to provide support, cushioning and running experience. Women's running sneakers are also suitable for rougher routes and uneven terrain. They have a breathable upper that has a reinforced toe and heel for better protection and stability. They are tied with laces that are 100% recycled and the binding is designed so that you can easily tighten them even with gloves.

Women's running shoes have a padded collar for maximum comfort. The strap on the back makes putting on and taking off easier. The 100% recycled inner insole also contributes to comfort when running, which also prevents the formation of odors. Merrell shoes have a slightly thicker midsole made of lighter FloatPro™ foam. It will thus provide cushioning and damping. The high-performance Vibram® MegaGrip® rubber sole has unrivaled grip on both dry and wet surfaces.
